Robin & Long

St. Francis Hall
Washington, DC

CONTENTS

GROWING UP IN BURKE, ROBIN AND Long lived down the street from each other. Though their paths crossed from time to time, it wasn't until their senior year at Virginia Tech that sparks flew. On their first date, they went rock-climbing; three years later, Long surprised Robin with a mountaintop proposal on a trip to Colorado with friends.

Their late-summer wedding had a romantic garden theme and a moody blush-and-sage palette, with terra-cotta roses in coffee and toffee hues, plus café au lait dahlias and eucalyptus. Entrée choices at dinner included roasted-corn ravioli, braised short ribs, and fish with roasted peppers. For dessert, guests nibbled on carrot cake—plus assorted cookies, chocolate-covered strawberries, churros, s'mores, and fruit tarts. The couple's favorite detail was setting aside one-on-one time, which they say helped them savor the day: During the reception, they slipped away to eat dinner together in a private room, and at the end of the night, they stayed behind for one last dance à deux.
