ABOUT ANASTASIA

Welcome, friend.

I'm Anastasia. I take pictures. I started taking them because of the role they play in my life – remembering my mother, exploring the world, documenting my love story, welcoming my babies and celebrating their milestones. Now, I have the most incredible job of helping others do the same.

I often go missing at dinner parties, only to be found much later lost in the photographs lining a staircase or inventing stories to go with the family photo wall. It's a habit I learned early on. When I was little I spent a lot of time with my two Nanas. Nana number one loved her dogs and let me make mud pies at the river near her house. Nana number two loved photos; they lined her walls and shelves – snapshots of her kids and grandbabies and, best of all, photos of my mom. I used to stand in the hallway imagining the stories that surrounded them. Some, I was old enough to remember, and others I had to make up. Sometimes one of my aunts would come by and tell me this or that about one of the photos.

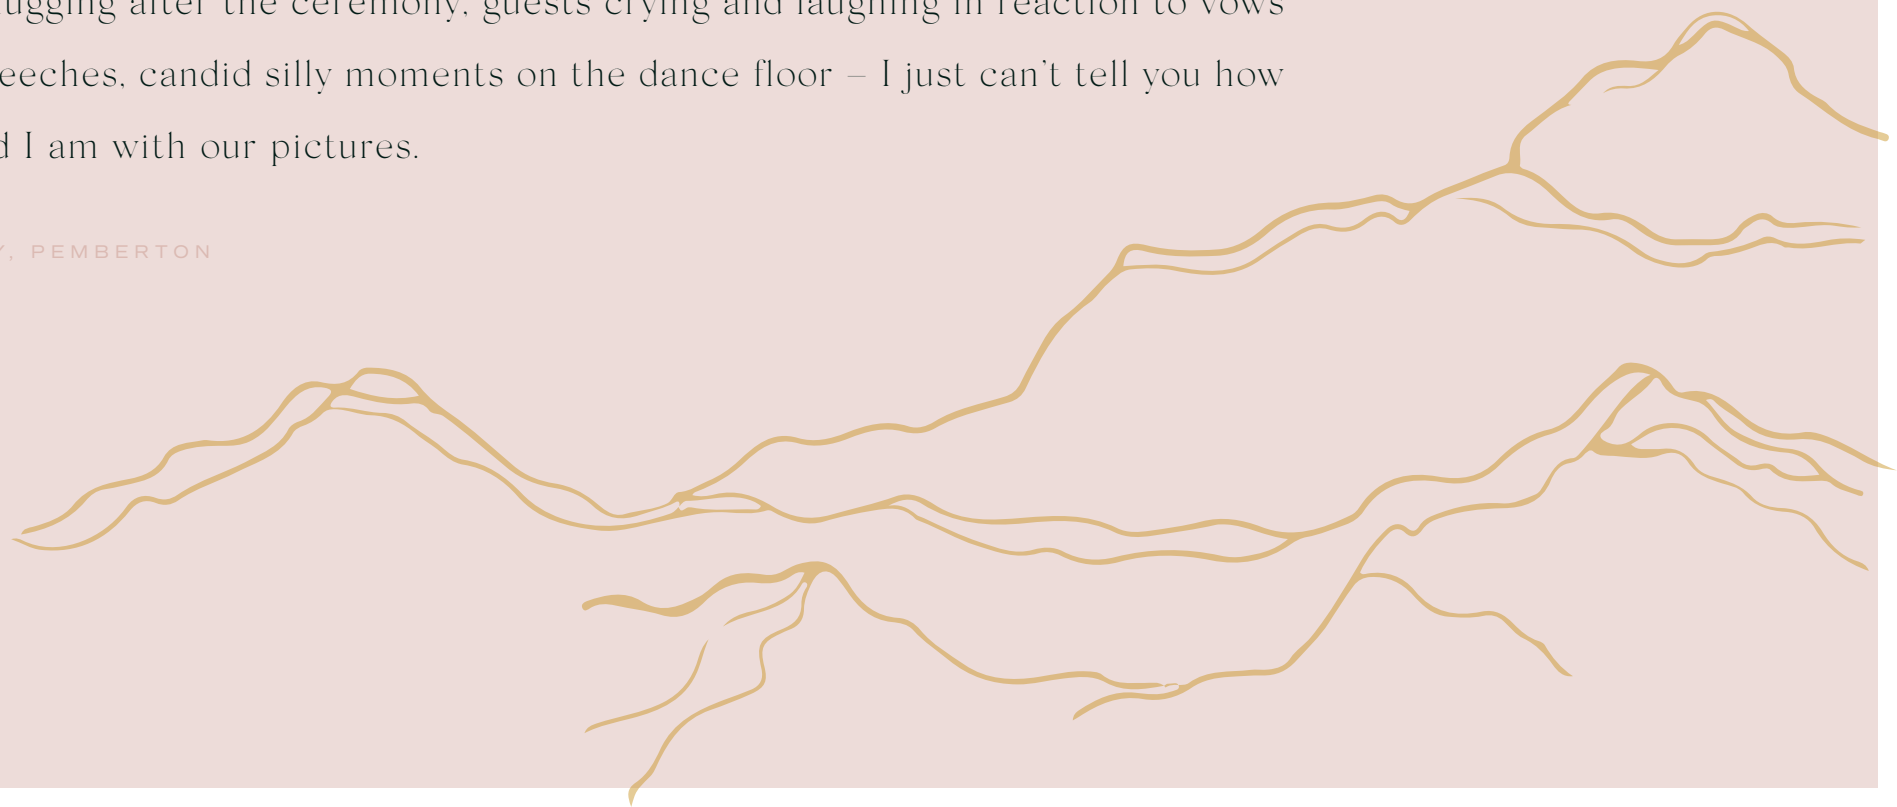

Sometimes I liked the stories in my head more. There was one photo of my Mom that I loved the most. Resting her face on one hand and smiling, she just looked so beautiful and carefree and alive. It took me years to ask my Nana if I could have that photo. And now, almost 30 years after my Mom died, her photo sits on my family wall and my own kids ask questions about her. And, they ask about my handsome Dad in the photo that sits next to it – the one where he's standing on the river after the flood. He's holding a coffee mug and wearing this amazing sweater. Just looking at it, I can smell him...dirt and coffee. I love that photo. I wish he still had that sweater.

Client love

Anastasia was our wedding photographer in July 2015 in Pemberton, BC. She was fantastic, the photos are amazing, and I honestly cannot say enough kind things about her and her team. Not only did she capture our day perfectly, every little moment was there, and I love re-living it through her pictures, but she was also lovely to work with. She mingles with guests and captured moments I will cherish forever: my niece playing with my wedding dress, my late-grandfather and I hugging after the ceremony, guests crying and laughing in reaction to vows and speeches, candid silly moments on the dance floor – I just can't tell you how thrilled I am with our pictures.

THE EXPERIENCE

what you can expect

I won't ask you to stare off into the distance contemplating your future or insist that the wedding party stand in formation - unless that's something you'd do spontaneously! I will get to know you well enough to choose backgrounds and make suggestions that bring out the best in you.

"That's so us!"

is one of the nicest things I hear as a photographer.

A close second is hearing that my photographs have awakened an emotion or sparked an amazing memory. Being invited to work so closely with you allows me to get those intimate captures that someone you're not as comfortable with would miss.

At the end of the day, what it comes down to is this. You have to love my photographs, and you have to want to share one of your most intimate days with me. You have to like me! So whether you're planning an intimate afternoon ceremony, or a more elaborate destination wedding, call or email me. I am always available to answer any questions you might have.

Even before we met her in-person, we fell in love with her online portfolio and style... and when we met her, we knew we we made the right decision to bring her onboard for our special wedding weekend in Whistler, BC. Her energy and passion is contagious. Not only is she a wonderfully talented and creative photographer, she is a warm, vibrant and genuine person! On the day-of the wedding, her and her team were flawless -- they were professional, fun, detailed, supportive -- everything you would ask for in an ideal wedding photographer.
