ASHLEY DELAND

Rewriting the Rules of Business & Power

Strategic Business Advisor, Author, Host & Executive Producer & Speaker

Ashley Deland didn't just build her success, she earned every inch of it.

The youngest of three daughters, Ashley was raised by a single mother in a low-income household and a restrictive religious cult that taught her to stay small, silent, and obedient.

But even as a child, she knew she was built for more. That inner knowing, the refusal to accept limitation as destiny, became the quiet fire behind every company, keynote, and global movement she's led.

Her story didn't begin in boardrooms or brand campaigns, it began with breaking generational patterns, rebuilding belief from scratch, and turning survival into strategy.

After working her way into a coveted corporate job and taking her boss's position in six months, Ashley did what most wouldn't - she walked away.

From the salary, the structure, the safety net, because the version of success she was living wasn't built on her terms.

She then launched her first business at 25, a yoga studio, then went on to build and exit a cold-pressed juice company and Canada's first soy-free vegan restaurant called "Karmah".

Every venture taught her not just how to lead, but how to endure, evolve, and expand.

Today, Ashley is the visionary CEO behind a powerhouse portfolio of global brands.

She leads Maison De Land, a luxury creative agency serving high-level founders; Business Mastery Academy, the world's first ICF-accredited business coaching certification exclusively for women; Female FoundHer, a wearable movement making female entrepreneurship visible; Female FundHer, a funding and mentorship platform connecting women to capital, equity, and community; Founder's Haus, an educational ecosystem helping women scale from startup to six figures and beyond; Unreserved, a best-selling book turned global movement amplifying women rewriting the rules; and Fempire, a soon-to-air reality TV series that puts real funding into the hands of women founders.

Behind every brand is the same mission:

To put wealth, visibility, and decision-making power into the hands of women who were never meant to have it.

Ashley doesn't speak from theory. She speaks from lived experience, from building businesses out of heartbreak, healing, and vision.

She is what happens when a woman refuses to wait for permission.

As an award-winning entrepreneur, author, and executive producer, Ashley brings unapologetic truth, sharp strategy, and emotional resonance to every stage, page, and screen. Whether she's speaking to media, mentoring founders, or building the next global brand, she leads with legacy in mind.

FEMPIRE

Creator, Executive Producer & Investor

Fempire is a bold new reality television series created to shift culture—and capital—in favor of women entrepreneurs.

The original concept was born from the mind of Ashley Deland, who serves as full Executive Producer and one of four lead investors. Inspired by her platform Female FundHer, Ashley envisioned a show that wouldn't just entertain—it would redistribute power, money, and visibility to female founders building scalable, world-shifting businesses.

From ideation to execution, Ashley has led the development of Fempire—structuring the show's format, casting vision, and ensuring its core mission stays intact:

Get real money, real mentorship, and real opportunity into the hands of real women.

Unlike traditional startup series, Fempire isn't about gimmicks or drama—it's about strategic investment in women rewriting the rules of business. On camera and behind the scenes, Ashley champions the founders, advises on show development, and safeguards the integrity of a model built on legacy, not likes.

Fempire is where power meets purpose—and women finally get the funding, visibility, and ownership they deserve.
