FAQ

ARE THE DIPLOMA COURSES ACCREDITED INTERNATIONALLY?

Each country has its own requirements and there is no accreditation available that is 'international.'

Most countries do not regulate the practice of natural medicine as long as you are not diagnosing and treating disease, and you can freely practice without requiring board examinations or professional memberships, although we do encourage graduates to join professional bodies.

Some countries do require an examination in their own language, for example in Germany there is an examination required for all practitioners who make health recommendations, regardless of your qualifications.

Each graduate must educate themselves about the requirements in their own country and abide by them. School of Natural Medicine graduates practice all over the world and we have never had a graduate who has been unable to practice and/or teach in their home country.

WILL I BE ABLE TO OBTAIN PRACTICE INSURANCE UPON GRADUATION?

School of Natural Medicine UK graduates can obtain block insurance from Balens or Westminster Insurance Company in the UK, or with an insurance company in your own country. Professional memberships also frequently offer reduced fee insurance options.
