Hamilton Health Care System's mission: We provide leadership, partnerships, and seamless resource coordination to meet health care needs that advance the quality and dignity of life.

CEO Letter

These are unprecedented times. What isn't unprecedented is the way our community cares for one another. Northwest Georgia is no stranger to hardship, yet each and every time, friends, families, and neighbors join forces with strength, courage, love, and compassion to see each other through those difficult times. Whether it is an economic challenge, a raging storm, or a global pandemic, we're all in this together.

We are thankful for the strong partnerships we have with area health departments, city and government agencies, and local businesses—especially in times like this. Many businesses have gone out of their way to help provide PPE and have even changed their processes to manufacture needed materials. We are also thankful to the community leaders who volunteer their valuable time to be the stewards of Hamilton's mission through the Hamilton Health Care System and Hamilton Medical Center boards.

One of the ways that Hamilton is our living our mission in these times is through the measures we have put in place to help provide a safe environment for patients, guests, providers, and associates. In addition, because we know how important a support person can be, limited visitation is available for Hamilton Medical Center patients who desire a visit and can safely receive one.

In these unprecedented times, the heart that Northwest Georgia has shown is inspiring. It shows that even though we may have recently spent some time apart, we're all in this together.

Best Regards,

Jeffrey D. Myers
President and CEO

Collaborative generosity transforming healthcare in our region

= OUR GENEROSITY NETWORK

Letter from the Executive Director

When we launched the campaign for Peebles Cancer Institute in January 2016, the Whitfield Healthcare Foundation board and Hamilton Health Care System united around one question, “What if all cancer care could be under one roof?” Knowing the challenges patients faced navigating treatment in various locations and the space constraints in Judd Cancer Center which would limit future growth, the Foundation rolled up its sleeves and set about its work of raising funds to support Hamilton’s “what if” vision.

Since 1921, this community has been imagining “what if” possibilities with Hamilton as Hamilton continues to bridge healthcare and innovation. From the first MICU in the state of Georgia in 1963 supported by the Bandy family, to the Mashburn Cardiac Pavilion, to the Anna Shaw Children’s Institute and Peebles Cancer Institute, Hamilton has continuously reinvented the healthcare experience for patients and their families. Alongside Hamilton has been the support of generous and committed donors of the Whitfield Healthcare Foundation, people who embrace the fact that the health of others is at stake, and together, we have the ability to do something about it.

As I observed the crowd at Peebles Cancer Institute during its opening in January, I couldn’t help but think how Shelby and Willena Peebles and other donors had affirmatively answered “yes” to Hamilton’s “what if.” Seeing Shelby and Willena and more than 1,500 donors contribute to Peebles Cancer Institute is both inspiring and humbling, for it is precisely this depth of commitment that allows Hamilton to navigate its way to better healthcare.

The gifts of visionary people have transformed healthcare for children and families coping with the challenges of autism and other developmental delays, as well as thousands of area patients facing a cancer diagnosis. Meaningful gifts to healthcare create positive change in our communities. As we continue our involvement in healthcare, let’s expand our partnerships and possibilities with fresh dialogue with fellow optimists who want to join us to solve the “what ifs.” Let’s continue bringing our healthcare priorities to center stage and aligning ourselves and our strategies around a shared vision. Let’s push each other to confront and resolve emerging healthcare needs in our Hamilton communities. Everyone must be at the table as we develop priorities and engage support. Look how far vision has taken us, and as we rise to face our next healthcare challenge, let’s imagine together how much further we can go.

Peeples Cancer Institute Opening Culminates Four-year Capital Campaign

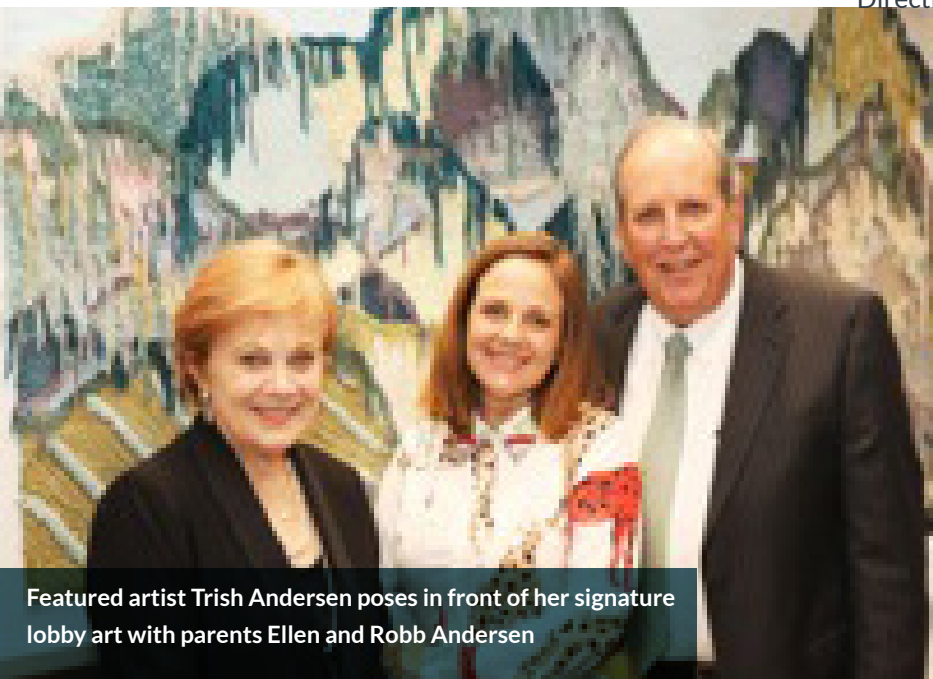

The Whitfield Healthcare Foundation celebrated the opening of the $46 million, 55,000 square foot Peeples Cancer Institute in January following a four year fundraising campaign. Contributing benefactors were recognized at a special evening event on January 18, 2020. Key supporters, including legacy donors Shelby and Willena Peeples, along with Hamilton leadership and Peeples Cancer Institute staff, were honored at the event.

The Institute's opening fulfills Hamilton's bold vision for a new era in cancer care. The new facility offers the most advanced technologies, and innovative programs and services, in a healing, nurturing environment. Peeples Cancer Institute boasts three stories for patient care, along with administrative offices, collaborative clinical work spaces and a fourth floor which has been shelled in for future growth. The first floor houses Judd Radiation Oncology, and includes diagnostic and treatment rooms for patients undergoing radiation therapy. One of the highlights of Judd Radiation Oncology is the Varian Medical Systems TrueBeam Linear Accelerator, which allows the team of radiation therapists to treat cancerous tumors with unparalleled precision and accuracy. The second floor houses physician offices, medical oncology examination rooms, and the women's diagnostic center with state-of-the-art mammography. Medical infusion is on the third floor of the facility, where patients receiving chemotherapy can choose a private infusion room or semi-private infusion suite which offers natural light and expansive views of the outdoors.

A soothing color palette is incorporated throughout the facility to create an inviting and aesthetically pleasing patient environment. Thirty-eight pieces of original art by local and regional artists were commissioned for the Institute, with the majority of pieces already sponsored by community members, many in honor or in memory of loved ones and friends.

Over 275 guests attended the evening event, and were welcomed into the two-story lobby atrium by Hamilton leaders and Foundation staff. Notes of appreciation from Hamilton healthcare workers hung from the Tree of Gratitude which stood at the entrance, setting the tone for an evening of gratitude for supporters and project partners. Atlanta jazz artist Mose Davis and his trio provided entertainment and offered a special tribute to donors with a performance of "Wind Beneath My Wings." Scott Sellers, chair of the Foundation board, Jeff Myers, president and CEO of Hamilton Health Care System, and Jane Snipes, Executive Director of the Whitfield Healthcare Foundation, lauded the generosity of the Peeples and the community. Recognition plaques highlighting significant gifts and images of Shelby and Willena Peeples were dedicated by Scott Sellers. In addition, portraits of Shelby and Willena Peeples were unveiled for Hamilton's Hall of Honor. Throughout the evening, tours were conducted by Hamilton and Peeples Cancer Institute leaders, as guests enjoyed hors d'oeuvres and mingled with physicians, administrative and clinical staff, and artists whose work is represented in the facility. Directing his comments to guests in attendance, Board chair Scott Sellers stated: "You are here tonight because you have impacted this facility and in turn helped transform healthcare in our community. Perhaps you are one of our Foundation members who has given generously of your personal resources, or one of our project partners responsible for design and construction, or one of our esteemed artists, or a Hamilton team member providing care – whatever your relationship to this sacred space, we are here to honor you and say thank you." Sellers read the dedication plaques in honor of Foundation benefactors and Shelby and Willena Peeples as he toasted the commitment, generosity and philanthropy of those who helped Hamilton fulfill its vision. As donors and guests exited for the evening, they were presented a keepsake gift from the Foundation – a canvas with an image of the cancer institute.

Recapping the evening, Jane Snipes remarked, “I have said repeatedly that there is no community stronger, more thoughtful, more intentional, more loving or more giving than ours. Peeples Cancer Institute is the physical representation of the incredible collaboration that has taken place for the past four years with the design, development and donor support for this Institute. The successful completion of this project affirms that there is no limit to what Hamilton and our communities can achieve together.”

Scott Sellers toasts the opening with the crowd.

PEEPLS CANCER INSTITUTE COMMUNITY OPEN HOUSE A SUCCESS

In addition to the benefactors event, a Peeples Cancer Institute Open House and ribbon cutting was held on Saturday, February 1, 2020, to celebrate the facility's completion and opening with the greater Dalton community. Over 300 members of the community attended the afternoon event to celebrate the Institute's opening. Joining community members and the Peeples family in celebration were Rob Bradham, president of the greater Dalton Chamber of Commerce and Chamber staff; Jeff Myers and the Hamilton leadership team and staff; key project partners Realty Trust Group, Brasfield & Gorrie, and Earl Swensson and Associates; and Scott Sellers along with Foundation board members and supporters. The event began with dedication remarks, followed by the Chamber ribbon cutting outdoors in the plaza, with Shelby and Willena Peeples performing the ribbon cutting honors surrounded by family. Community members took part in staff- and self-led tours, and guests enjoyed light refreshments during the event.

Peeples Cancer Institute saw its first patients on January 6, 2020, and the Open House provided the greater community a glimpse of the cutting-edge technologies, equipment, and services provided in the beautiful new facility. One guest who stood in the light-filled Lyle Lobby in Peeples Cancer Institute remarked: "What a great day for Dalton and the surrounding area to have a facility of this caliber for the residents of northwest Georgia. We should all be proud."

BURL JACKSON BANDY

OCTOBER 17, 1926 - MARCH 29, 2020

The good works of Burl Jackson "Jack" Bandy are so woven through the benevolent organizations and noble causes of our region that it would be far easier to list those organizations he has not bestowed his time and talent on than to count those where his time has been spent. From religion to education to health, from civic board memberships and campaign chairmanships to major philanthropic gifts, Jack Bandy has elevated the quality of life and spirit of our region.

Over the years, Hamilton Health Care System has been the fortunate beneficiary of Jack Bandy's leadership. For 19 years, he served as a member of the Dalton-Whitfield County Hospital Authority during a period of explosive population growth, requiring a rapid expansion in medical services. When the hospital was restructured in the early 1980s, Jack became an officer of the holding company, and concurrently, chairman of the Medical Center's operating company. In this post, Jack shared with the Medical Staff and other members of the hospital family his belief in the power of cooperation to move mountains. And we did. Jack's extraordinary volunteerism earned him the Georgia Hospital Association's highest honor, the Distinguished Service Award. Jack also served as a trustee of the Whitfield Healthcare Foundation and was named a Life Associate in 1984, a trustee designation that recognizes an extraordinary level of service and support. In 2008, Jack received the Foundation's prestigious Humanitarian Award which recognizes the best among us--individuals who have dedicated a large portion of their time and resources to improving the quality of our healthcare system and the life of our community.

Jack's guidance and generosity have helped keep Hamilton at the forefront of healthcare. The Bandy-McCutcheon Intensive Care Unit, a gift from the Bandy family, was the first and one of the best-equipped ICUs in the state of Georgia when it opened in 1963. The Whiteside Department of Rehabilitation Care was a gift of Jack and Aggie Bandy in honor of her parents. The Bandy Parking Plaza which long graced the front of our Medical Center is now the home of the Bandy Endoscopy Center. Prior to his passing in March 2020, Jack had been working closely with the Foundation and marketing teams to plan an official open house for Bandy Endoscopy Center. Unfortunately, the event had to be postponed due to the impact of COVID-19, and Jack's untimely death followed thereafter.

Despite his involvement in many endeavors outside the home, it is family life that Jack cherished most. If you asked him to list his proudest achievements in life, it would begin with the wonderful family he and Aggie raised, their three children B. J., Murray, and Tana, and six grandchildren. Late in life Jack's family continued to grow, as grandchildren married and great grandchildren were born. Jack, along with second wife Marg, continued to be great friends of the Foundation, staying active with fundraising events and attending the Foundation's recognition celebrations. Jack also was a fixture for years at the Foundation's annual golf invitational.

Jack was a blessing to us all. His fervor for doing good, his approachable, laid-back style of leadership, and the spirit of cooperation he engendered in others are noble traits we all can emulate. Few people have enjoyed as full a life as Jack, balancing family and faith, good works, and, we dare not overlook, golf. As exemplified through his many selfless acts of kindness and compassion for others, there is no finer example of humanitarianism than Jack Bandy. For that and so much more, all of us at Hamilton will be forever grateful.

Hamilton Ambassadors: ONE IN A MILLION

Employee giving is an important component of the Whitfield Healthcare Foundation's culture of philanthropy. Since the 1992 launch of the Hamilton Ambassadors employee giving program, employees have mobilized the Foundation's fundraising efforts from the inside out. Over the years, Hamilton Ambassadors have become fundraising champions, creating a ripple effect throughout the organization as they inspire others to join their cause. Who is better to support charitable giving toward Hamilton's healthcare advancements than those directly involved?

Hamilton Ambassadors recently broke individual campaign giving records and reached a milestone in total cumulative giving during the ONE Campaign for Peeples Cancer Institute. Ambassadors have contributed over $398,000 to Peeples Cancer Institute and at the end of 2019, surpassed $1,000,000 in total giving to the Foundation. Currently, more than 800 employees are Hamilton Ambassadors, with 880 new Ambassadors pledging throughout the course of the three-year ONE Campaign, setting a new record for participation.

To provide lasting recognition for Hamilton Ambassadors for their significant contributions, the Foundation named the outdoor plaza between Hamilton Medical Center and Peeples Cancer Institute, Ambassador Plaza. On February 14, 2020, the Foundation surprised Ambassadors with the plaza dedication, followed by a Valentine's reception in their honor. Shelby and Willena Peeples, benefactors of Peeples Cancer Institute, attended the event to thank Ambassadors for their generosity. In remarks to Ambassadors, Foundation executive director Jane Snipes defined philanthropy as "love in action" and expressed appreciation to Ambassadors for sacrificing their hard earned resources to advance patient care at Hamilton.

The Foundation also has established prominent recognition for Ambassadors, along with other major contributors from the community, in the Peeples Cancer Institute lobby. Praising their support, Jane remarked, "Hamilton Ambassadors have redefined how employees can harmonize their healthcare careers with their instincts to do for others. By giving back to Hamilton, our Ambassadors are impacting care and services for the very people they serve, our patients."

With its prime location, Ambassador Plaza offers a central gathering spot for community events. Cathy Snyder, Chair of Annual Support and Love Lights, states, "We look forward to hosting our Love Lights celebration annually in Ambassador Plaza. It offers a beautiful outdoor space for Hamilton's holiday lighting celebration and the views of the lights are amazing."

Since 1992, Ambassadors have contributed to seven campaigns of the Foundation, including Shaw Department of Emergency Care Expansion and Renovation, Hamilton Diagnostics Expansion, Chest Pain Center in the Shaw Department of Emergency Care, Surgical Care state-of-the-art Operating Suites, Shaw Department of Emergency Care/Turner Maternal Infant Care Expansion, Cardiac Cath Lab Expansion and Peeples Cancer Institute ONE Campaign. The dedication of Ambassador Plaza signals the start of a new tradition and new optimism for Ambassador giving. Plans for the future include engaging more deeply so that Ambassadors understand the impact of their giving and empowering them to make decisions about the program. "The Foundation is grateful for the tremendous impact of our Ambassadors on our fundraising efforts," says Jane. "We look forward to having them generate new ideas and new ways that we all can serve with purpose and compassion. The sky is the limit with this amazing group."

CATHY SNYDER, Whitfield Healthcare Foundation Trustee and the 2019 Love Lights Chair

It was my privilege to again chair the Foundation's Love Lights Tree Lighting Celebration and year-end giving campaign. I'm delighted to share that through the generosity and support of our local community, the 37th annual Love Lights program exceeded fundraising goals set by our committee for 2019.

Love Lights allows community members to purchase lights in honor or in memory of friends, co-workers, loved ones, and even cherished family pets. Love Lights donations benefit patients in Hamilton's Home Health, Hospice, and Cancer patient programs who are in need of financial assistance. Our goal is to ensure that patients' basic life needs are met and they have the necessary support to live as comfortably as possible. I am grateful for the generosity of our families, friends, and neighbors who provide these meaningful tribute gifts each year, which in turn improve the lives of others.

As each year passes, the celebration continues to evolve as colorful lights are added to the campus, a new group of happy school carolers entertains us, and traditional cookies and hot cocoa cap off the evening. This past year, for the first time ever, Mrs. Claus joined Santa for the occasion. In addition, Hamilton hosted a holiday crafts table and an official new Love Lights tree was planted on the hill overlooking the plaza. Seeing the new evergreen shining brightly made me realize how much I love Dalton and this wonderful tradition at Hamilton.

I invite you to mark your calendars for Thursday, November 19, 2020, as we celebrate this year's Love Lights. Let's commit to assisting more patients and their families with our donations. I can't wait to see you at Hamilton this November! I promise it's a celebration not to miss.
