At Wright Pediatric Therapy, our primary focus is on supporting your child's progress and ensuring the highest quality of care. Consistent attendance and timely communication are essential components in achieving optimal therapeutic outcomes for your child.

To facilitate continuity of care, we require a minimum of 6 hours' notice for any appointment cancellations. This advance notice allows us to adjust scheduling and offer appointment times to other children in need of services. Failure to provide at least 6 hours' notice may result in a $25.00 fee, applied at the discretion of Wright Pediatric Therapy (not applicable to Medicaid and/or CDSA clients). The missed appointment will be recorded as a "no show," and this fee is not billable to insurance and will remain the responsibility of the parent or guardian.

Furthermore, in order to maintain effective therapeutic intervention, regular attendance is required. If your child misses more than 20% of scheduled sessions, Wright Pediatric Therapy reserves the right to discharge your child from services, as inconsistent participation may significantly impact therapeutic progress and outcomes.
