I. Find the Right Fit

We believe a joyful, meaningful home truly begins with the relationship you have with your designer. You'll be working closely with them for several months (or even longer), so having an excellent mutual understanding will ensure a successful and enjoyable project.

THINGS TO CONSIDER:

- Are you building a home, renovating, and need more of a full-service approach or are you looking for help with furnishings? You can learn more about our interior design services here.
- When meeting with potential interior designers, ask about their approach to design and their process. This will give you a better understanding of whether it's a good fit.

DH TIP:

For your entry table, use non-directional items (no back) for decor.
