JENNY WAGNER PHOTOGRAPHY

2021

MEET JENNY

I began taking portraits in 2013 and since then I have fallen in love with the art of shooting film photography.

I was born in Korea and raised in Maryland. When it comes to celebrations, my Korean heritage influences my passion for the cultural and the colorful.

In 2017 I graduated from Johns Hopkins University, where I met my fiancé, and we now have a happy home in Maryland with two perfect kitties. My degree is actually in Computer Science, and I'm a software engineer as well as a photographer. My unique skillset influences the way I approach creativity: master the rules before breaking them, then know when to break them and create something inspiring.

I'm truly a Jill of all trades and I have about a million hobbies. I end up finding that I have something in common with just about everyone I meet, and I end up making friends with most of my clients. The human element of photographing portraits and events is by far the most precious part. I hope that when you work with me, you can see that.
