What's It About?

Jonah knows that he's adopted, but he doesn't know that the past and history itself will depend on him more than he ever thought possible in this first book in Margaret Peterson Haddix's New York Times bestselling The Missing series.

One night a plane appeared out of nowhere, the only passengers aboard: thirty-six babies. As soon as they were taken off the plane, it vanished. Now, thirteen years later, two of those children are receiving sinister messages, and they begin to investigate their past. Their quest to discover where they really came from leads them to a conspiracy that reaches from the far past to the distant future—and will take them hurtling through time. In this exciting new series, bestselling author Margaret Peterson Haddix brings an element of suspense that will keep readers on the edge of their seats.

Who Wrote It?

Margaret grew up on a livestock farm in Ohio with her parents and three siblings. She later attended college to earn a degree in English and Journalism. After writing for a couple of newspapers and teaching at the college level, she made the transition to books.... and hasn't looked back! Margaret has written over 40 books for children and young adults! She says she loves writing because, "I love making up stories and playing around with words and imagining interesting people in interesting situations." For young writers seeking advice about being a writer she says, "Read a lot. Write a lot. Think a lot. Enjoy what you read, write and think about."
