

RECOMMENDED READING

Paris

The City of Lights has been an inspiration for millions of stories. Here are a few that will immerse you in a life of a morning cafe au lait at the counter, twice daily fresh baguettes, and strolls along the Seine!

The Paris Novel, by Ruth Reichl

Stella fulfills her estranged mother's dying wish to go to Paris, where she goes on a journey of self-discovery and found family.

Madame Tussauds, by Michelle Moran

This Historical Fiction Biography gives readers an intriguing insight into Marie Tussaud's original wax works Salone de Cire, her visits to Versailles on the cusp of the French Revolution, and the development, by her descendants, of what has become the internationally renowned celebrity wax works Madame Tussauds.

Paris, by Edward Rutherfurd

A sweeping novel that follows six families as Paris evolves over seven decades.

The Paris Apartment, by Lucy Foley

To find her missing brother, Jess must infiltrate a secretive Parisian family and their classic mansion, in this Thriller.

RECOMMENDED READING: Paris cont...

All That Glitters (Enchantée) & Everything That Burns*, by Gita Trelease

A duology of magical realism set within the enchanted gardens of Versailles and the Revolutionary streets of Paris.

Mastering the Art of French Murder*, Colleen Cambridge

A Parisian Cozy Mystery set in the years just following WWII. Tabitha has become bosom buddies with fellow expat, Julie Childs, and becomes entangled in solving the murder of a young woman killed with one of Julia's kitchen knives.

Murder in the Marais*, by Cara Black

The first in a 21-book police procedural series, Murder in the Marais introduces the reader to Private Investigator Aimée Leduc. Each book in the series features a different area of the city.

The Room on Rue Amelie*, by Kristin Harmel

While her French husband is off fighting in WWII, American-born Ruby is left to navigate German-occupied Paris, while befriending a young Jewish girl and a British RAF pilot.

Lunch in Paris, Picnic in Provence, & Dinner Chez Moi*, by Elizabeth Bard

This trio of memoirs follows American Elizabeth as she meets and falls in love with a Frenchman, navigating the cultural differences that arise. Incredible French recipes included!

RECOMMENDED READING: Paris cont...

RECOMMENDED READING: Paris cont...

