Hello!

I help nature lovers who hold a deep respect for our planet and are conscientious about the legacy they leave on it plan impactful trips.

For me, traveling is not just a chance to “escape”—it’s an opportunity to make an impact. At Biophilia Travel Designs, we help our clients travel well, do good, and come back changed for the better.

The curated itineraries I design for you will connect you to local communities, landscapes, and wildlife sure to touch your heart. And these trips will no doubt connect you to yourself—you’ll learn more about your place in the world and how you can preserve it.

Because we all have a role to play on this planet.
