

Prepurchase Agreement

Dear client,

A prepurchase examination is a thorough physical exam conducted to allow an opinion to be given about a patient on a particular day. It is the buyer's responsibility to provide information such as concerning intended use and any relevant past history known. The buyer is given the choice on how much to spend on diagnostics. Any invasive diagnostics cannot be performed without owner consent.

We cannot predict the future of any patient, so please understand that we try to give the best opinion possible from examining a patient on that particular day. There is certainly a possibility that sub-clinical issues do exist that could manifest at a later date.

A routine prepurchase examination may not reveal subtle lameness, especially if the patient has not been in hard/consistent work in the preceding months. Early or subtle stages of some medical conditions may not be apparent during the examination, especially without in-depth diagnostics. It should be understood that the veterinarian does not issue a warranty on any particular case, and if so desired, this should be taken up with the seller. The patient will not receive "pass" or "fail." Findings will simply be presented to the buyer and left with the decision to purchase. Please feel free to discuss any questions regarding the exam with us prior to purchase.

By signing this agreement, you are comfortable with Royalty Veterinary Services, PLLC performing the examination to give their best unbiased opinion possible.
