

TWA Sample Trip Request Response

Thank you for affording me the opportunity to discuss your upcoming vacation trip plans. Travel planning can be very overwhelming and time consuming. Your time is valuable. You can book your vacation 100 different ways—but there's only one way that's perfect for you. I am committed to delivering an experience crafted with care and designed to awe.

Here are a few things that you can be confident in as we begin to work together:

- You are working with knowledgeable professionals, and our agency has received prestigious awards from the top hotels and suppliers in our industry.
- Our team has firsthand experience with the destinations you are interested in, or we work closely with local experts and meticulously vet our recommendations. We invest our time and thousands of dollars a year to partner with the best ensuring you are well cared for.
- My team and I will be here for you from today until you return home from your vacation and beyond!

What's next?

- Let's schedule a quick planning call. On our call, I will be able to learn more about you and answer any questions you have (even the ones you might not know to ask)
- Following our planning call, I will send you several options to choose from using the information shared on our call. Your hardest decision will be choosing which curated option is best for you to book

Please find a time that is most convenient for you on my calendar link below. If we need to find alternate times, please let me know, and we can find an alternative.

Schedule a planning call here: <insert calendly link>

I look forward to hearing from you!

With Gratitude,