COMMUNICATION

Communication is the foundation for successful projects, and our level of communication is what sets us apart. We provide a client portal for our clients; it is a clean and easy way of communication for us. Your client portal reduces the hassle of scrolling through emails to find our communications, it houses all of our files in one place, and it maintains our scheduling, information and more. Throughout the duration of your project, we will be communicating via client portal and phone. I will be providing phone call summaries in the portal so we can keep track of all communication.
