MEET SARA & WHERE IT ALL BEGAN

From the moment I held my first flip phone to my first point & shoot camera, I was taking photos of everything and anything I could. Looking back at the thousands of photos I took, in my young adolescent years, I have been adoring and dreaming of capturing moments the way they were in time. I didn't realize until years later how precious these photos were and the huge impact of realization that, luckily and without knowing, that I had documented my childhood from 8th grade to early college years pre instagram times. HAHA! I sat for hours reliving all of these memories, becoming emotional, finding myself laughing, cringing at the selfies I took with my friends, and so incredibly grateful for every mundane photo that made my childhood so incredible.

Fast forward to 2020, I'm 9 months into my Pediatric Dental Hygiene career and WE ALL KNOW WHAT HAPPENS NEXT. Covid shut the world down and i'm sitting on my couch, furloughed, watching the news wondering when my "secure" job would come back. After the initial shock of staying home set in, boredom grew and cabin fever grew even faster. All I can think is... (and as lucky as I was compared to so many) I never want to rely on the government or a "secure job" again. Also I began reevaluating WHAT AM I DOING with my life. AM I LIVING the life I've always dreamed and a life we all deserve?

I knew freedom was my new dream. This crazy pandemic gave me the opportunity to sit and have the time to really understand how fleeting life is and how precious time is. Life is too short to be living a mundane life working for a paycheck and never completely fulfilled and happy with life. That's when I jumped into this business full force April 2020. I purchased a camera with my first stimulus check and got to work! Now 2 years later, having travelled the country, got married during a pandemic, been featured on a magazine, photographing so many couples in epic location in different seasons of their lives and bringing impact to so many incredible souls! All I want to do is bring the same freedom to my clients that I seek for myself and my family! Freedom is my why and the driving factor that keeps me so excited to live this extraordinary life.

THE EXPERIENCE

*From the moment you step foot in my inbox - I'm ready to go!
You deserve nothing less than the greatest beyond exceptional experience.
In a world of lovers leaping into the wedding world - I'll be your guide
(since it's probably your first AND LAST time!)*

A great photographer won't just show up on the day of your event. They'll spend endless hours getting to know you more on a deeper level. They truly hold your biggest desires in their heart and they will absolutely go above and beyond what you were ever promised.

You deserve someone who isn't hella booked up with 50 wedding couples and dozens upon dozens of sessions on their calendar. You deserve someone who is excited when you send them a daily text and want to work together to not only build your vision for an incredible wedding or session - but to watch that vision come to fruition!

NO BULLSHIT. In this industry there's thousands of photographers that will take an amazing photo. But not all will treat you like you're their only couple. And that makes all the difference. I can't tell you how many times I've heard, "I can't get ahold of my photographer", "they're so busy", or "they didn't really tell us what to do we just showed up". My friend, you deserve so much more than a budget photographer that is hustling to please way too many clients and drops off when it comes to your experience.

From beginning to end we will work together hand in hand to curate and create something beyond your imagination. It comes down to how you want to feel during your experience but also how you want to feel looking back years from now when you barely remembered all but the few memories from that season. My job is to preserve these memories and create this beauty from the life you may not see as beautiful as you will years from now. Because your life is so filled with adventure, love, and happiness. Even in the craziness of not so perfect and not so amazing things. You will look back and discover a new level of joy.

From wardrobe selection, to location scouting, to making you feel comfortable and giving yourself permission to be yourself, to next day previews, to quick turnaround time for all of your final images, to printing your favorites, and designing your dream album to add to your library for your children to flip through one day and smile at seeing a piece of their family history far before their time.

It's like you hired your closest girl friend to capture all of your life's biggest moments!

WHAT'S NEXT?

ARE YOU READY? Because I know I am so ready to dive in deep with you guys and get started right away!

The next thing to do is meet, connect, and talk all things you! I want to discover your sweet and divined journey that lead you here today.

Let's meet face to face either via Zoom (if were not locals) or have a coffee, cocktail, sushi, or ice cream date in person to talk all about the gushy details about your love story, your upcoming experiences, and all the incredible adventures that await.

I can't wait to meet you two and discover all there is to you and what you ultimately desire most in life.

This is more than finding the right person to take a few photos. It's about finding the one who knows you for who you, wants to serve you like you're their only client, are someone that will create an abundance of tangible heirlooms from your experiences and history in the making. You deserve someone who sees the beauty in two souls who were created just for one another, someone who will treat you like their best friend is getting married, and someone who allows you to feel absolutely amazing, comfortable, and safe during some of the most intimate experiences of your life! You deserve nothing less my friends!
