Linens You May Need

- Welcome/Gift tablecloth
- Guest book tablecloth (if different from welcome table)
- DJ tablecloth (most DJs provide their own! Ask yours)
- Ceremony tablecloth (for things like sand ceremonies, etc. Usually a cocktail or bistro table)
- Cocktail tablecloths
- Cocktail cuffs
- Stationary appetizer tablecloth
- Buffet tablecloths
- Guest tablecloths
- Guest napkins
- Cake or dessert tablecloth

Things to Note

- We always recommend renting an additional 10 napkins for things like the cake cutting, buffet chafers, vendor meals and/or backup in case a guest drops theirs.
- Don't forget to add extra napkins for bread bowls if needed for catering.
- If you're feeding your guests multiple meals (ex. culture weddings with a lunch and dinner course), we highly recommend doubling your counts for buffet and guests tables. Ingredients from certain cultural dishes tend to stain, so it's good to have a fresh set for your planner/catering to switch out between meals.
- It's great to have one extra guest table linen on hand for events in case water or something else spills on the table during set up (rare, but it does happen).
