WORKING TOGETHER

TIPS AND PREPARATION

For families, loved ones and littles

What to bring

- ☑ Favourite snacks, toys, props, extra clothing

Snacks and drinks are essential, particularly for little ones. We can always take some time out to enjoy a snack or two. Do you have any favorite family games or toys? I'm looking for real moments of connection, even if it doesn't look aesthetic, the real smiles are worth it. Always bring extra clothing, for those with tiny children as it could drop in temperature, or you get a little too muddy/sandy/wet from games. I'd also encourage any props you love, a necklace with significance, a beautiful basket or teddy to include. Please bring this all!

What to wear

- ☑ Embrace you - and no I won't tell you to just wear neutrals!

Neutrals, white dresses and shirts are always a beautiful foundation for bright creamy, dreamy photos. If you have a favourite outfit, a jumper with a personal story attached, or a knit from a family member. Please do wear it! Block colours also make beautiful statements. All I ask is try and match each other, and choose colours to complement each others outfits. The only thing to stray away from is logo's and anything printed, ie branded, cartoon or dresses with contrasting colours.

YOUR SESSION

Once you feel comfortable with your outfits, some snacks and any props you may wish to include. There's just a few more things to note when preparing for our time together.

Prepare your family members

01

If you have any family members feeling nervous or just not that excited for camera to be around, it's best to be prepared. Talk to your kids before the shoot, get practicing in the mirror with the best faces - if it's your partner that's feeling nervous, tell them how much the photos mean to you and how loved they are, how special these photos will be to you.

Plan your time well, don't rush so you can relax and have fun!

02

Relaxed parents, can help the kids be even more relaxed. Booking the right time and day can really help. Our schedules are very busy as parents, so make sure you have plenty of time to enjoy the shoot. This is all about slowing down, taking time together and having fun to create some special moments.

Don't just smile at the camera

Sure we will get a few photos of the whole family looking but the best moment's are unscripted. I'll prompt you to interact, we can play games and that's where the magic really happens.
