THE WILD FLOWER ELEMENTAL RESET

Completely escape into this gorgeous 90-minute elemental reset for mind, body and soul. If you are feeling high levels of stress, imbalance, scattered thoughts, emotional states or just need to disconnect to reconnect with yourself, this treatment is for you.

An imbalance in one or some of the elements may result in a disruption of any of these things:

EARTH: grounding, stability, contentment

FIRE: energy, creativity, digestion

AIR: space, breath, mental clarity

WATER: emotional stability, fluidity, compassion

Your Wild Flower Spa Therapist will rebalance the four Ayurveda elements of earth, fire, water and air, within the body using several holistic modalities. As each person experiences imbalance in different areas your treatment is complete customized. Your expertly crafted journey may include Thai yoga massage, reiki, hot stones, rose quartz gua sha stones, Ayurvedic kansa wand, pressure point massage, and holding space among others.

The term “reiki” comes from the Japanese words “rei,” meaning universal, and “ki,” which means vital life force energy that flows through all living things. Some practitioners describe reiki as acupuncture without the needles. Reiki is a complementary health approach in which practitioners place their hands on or just above different areas of the body. It’s based on an Eastern medicine belief that living beings have energy fields that support their health and vitality.

Energy blocks, on the other hand, impede innate flow of energy, causing not only health problems, but also negative life circumstances like financial troubles or relationship problems, according to belief. Energy blocks of any living being can be treated, according to belief, which is why some practitioners also work on animals and plants. Reiki practitioners focus on sensing energy blocks and moving the energy for the greatest good of the client.

Janal is a level one Reiki practitioner. She facilitates connection to one’s highest self. Her personalized sessions promote inner peace, health and wellbeing.
