Restaurants

Here are some of our recommendations:

- Egmond aan Zee has plenty of restaurants to offer. However, these are some of our favourites; for the best apple pie with sea view please visit “De Windwijzer” (this is the small café at Boulevard Noord, nothing fancy but the pie is the best). Then nearby you’ll find on the beach towards the North: the laidback “Strandpaviljoen Evi Beach” with a simple but good lunch menu. On the opposite side of the boulevard (South beach) you’ll find “Nautilus”, which is always good for a quick meal and/or drink since you are located at the beach front. Restaurant “Comer” is also lovely for a night out. And from March to September definitely try a delicious Italian ‘gelato’ at “Pravisani” (Voorstraat 120), they are here since 1947 and still serving the BEST ice cream in the region! :)
- Egmond aan den Hoef has a nice Indonesian food takeaway called “Rasa Lombok”.
- Egmond-Binnen has one of our all-time favourites: “Nieuw-Westert”. It is a monumental farm, with a sunny terrace, beautiful gardens and outside play area for the kids!
- In Alkmaar (10-15 min away by car) there is a lovely restaurant & bar called “1480”. You can get there by taxi or drive yourself and park in the “Karperton” car park. There are several bars to have a drink on the “Waagplein” nearby. For breakfast or lunch we always love “Sencha Lunchstore” (their cakes are to die for!) and don’t miss “Roast” for the best coffee.
- Bergen aan Zee has another favourite beach pavilion of ours: “Paviljoen Noord”. We are a BIG fan of their burgers & salads, and always feel inspired by their interior design.
- In Bergen (the village) there are plenty of nice cafés and restaurants. For the best coffee and sandwiches we always go the “Echt”, which is located next to the Ruin Church.
- For dinner in a special location, you can go to “het Ruiterhuys” in Bakkum (Heereweg 83). There is a nice outdoor play area for the little ones too.

S

Shopping

- In Egmond aan Zee you can find the surfshop “Backyard surfshop” for rental of boards, but they offer also apparel, swimshorts, etc. Then “Tally-ho”, a lovely woman’s clothing boutique, also resides in de Voorstraat. But there are plenty of stores worth a visit.
- The nearby artists’ village Bergen is also a must-see if you have never been before. There are lots of nice restaurants to choose from and lovely shops to visit. For example another branch of “Tally-ho”, the concept store “PT post”, and home accessories & clothing store “Sissy-Boy” (often with a nice offer of kids apparel) and “Stadspaviljoen Noord” for stylish kitchen knick knacks and homewares. Close to the Ruin Church is “Camelot” with brands such as Acne Studios, Ganni, Isabel Marant, etc. And from there around the corner definitely don’t miss “l’Etoile store”, the all-time favourite of Linda for Scandinavian interior design. Last – but not least as they say – you’ll find down the road from l’Etoile the bakery + wine store (love that combination) “La Vie Locale”.
- Alkmaar obviously has the high street stores and plenty of cheese stores, but also offer a few cute boutique style stores, such as “Dille & Kamille” for home goods and “TwentyoneWood” for stylish men and women apparel. However, besides these stores, personally we prefer to shop in Haarlem or Amsterdam over Alkmaar 😊

Supermarket

- There is a recently opened supermarket “Deka Markt” in the main street (Voorstraat) but we also love the mini shopping mall in Egmond aan den Hoef with a supermarket (Albert Heijn), fresh bakery, butcher, fishmonger, cheese shop, and liquor store.
- Both supermarkets are open almost all year round from 8am-9pm.
- You can find more (food) shops nearby the “Deka Markt” in the Voorstraat in Egmond aan Zee.

Smoking

- Smoking is only permitted outside on the terrace. Smoking is not allowed inside the house.

Surfing

- For a surf shop we’d recommend you to go to Egmond aan Zee: Backyard Surfshop. Here you can book surf lessons, rent or buy surfboards and wetsuits. They also sell apparel and accessories, or you can just pop in for a coffee and a chat. Address: Voorstraat 102, Egmond aan Zee
