What's It About?

When Maisie's mom gives her an old phone, Maisie can't believe her luck—finally, she can keep up with everyone at school! Unfortunately, her mom also tells her that the whole family will be moving to spend the summer taking care of Maisie's great-aunt Hazel. Maisie's only getting a phone because she'll be responsible for her younger siblings during the entire trip. With that, Maisie is ready to give the phone back. Then the first puzzling text comes in. Between the mystery texts and a not-completely-blank book from Great-Aunt Hazel, Maisie finds herself thrown into the world of moonleapers. Will she be able to learn more about the secretive group, and—gulp—help them accomplish their crucial mission in time?

From New York Times bestselling author Margaret Peterson Haddix comes a suspenseful duology opener about a girl whose first phone connects her to a network of time travelers who want to change the world. Perfect for fans of The Mysterious Benedict Society and City Spies!

Who Wrote It?

Margaret grew up on a livestock farm in Ohio with her parents and three siblings. She later attended college to earn a degree in English and Journalism. After writing for a couple of newspapers and teaching at the college level, she made the transition to books.... and hasn't looked back! Margaret has written over 40 books for children and young adults! She says she loves writing because, "I love making up stories and playing around with words and imagining interesting people in interesting situations." For young writers seeking advice about being a writer she says, "Read a lot. Write a lot. Think a lot. Enjoy what you read, write and think about."
