COMMERCIAL IMAGERY

Building your Business image is one of the most important factors of operating a business. It forms a part of the building blocks of your business foundation and identity.

Lights Camera Action - Getting the best out of you for your shots!

Creating images to ‘tell your story’ is what I do best. I have over 20 years experience with a strong Wedding, Documentary and Portrait background. I have worked in every genre of photography and am still constantly learning.

As an artist, I am looking for a difference and creating unique images for my clients that represent themselves, their businesses and personalities best.

I listen to your story and translate that into creating eye-catching and flexible images for your website, business cards, social media, or even billboard.

It’s important for me to know your Story and what you want from your images. If you have no idea, then that’s great too - it means we have a clean slate and can create something that truly represents you and your business.

In your own space or on location, it’s up to you and what your needs are.

Who owns _____ COPYRIGHT?

Australian Law relating to the copyright of commercial photographs was amended in Federal Parliament in July 1998. Its states in substance that, in absence of an agreement to license, the copyright of a commissioned commercial photograph is owned by the Photographer.

Intellectual Property Law deals with the rules for securing and enforcing legal rights to inventions, designs, and artistic works. Just as the law protects ownership of personal property and real estate, so too does it protect the exclusive control of intangible assets.

If you have any questions regarding this matter, please don't hesitate to ask.

From the initial email contact, to the professionalism yet down-to-earthness shown during the shoot, Bambi was wonderful to deal with. She had our photos back to us incredibly quickly and we are so happy with what she has produced.
