Kate Ruby Bradshaw is a sought-after leadership coach and growth strategist who helps entrepreneurs and senior leaders unlock their potential and scale their businesses.

A former healthcare leader, Kate delivered government contracts across New Zealand while working within an award winning team recognised nationally for their leadership and results. After completing back to back national contracts, Kate moved into leadership and business development.

Now with over 15 years experience growing and supporting businesses in an online world, multiple government contracts, coaching high-profile industry leaders and senior-level executives, and running hundreds of in-person workshops plus large-scale events, Kate's work has always been about helping people see beyond limits and into potential.
