

pash pala luxury

Event & Floral Design, Props: CeCe Designs Event Design & Planner, Props: Valia Rose Events Photography: Arden Photography

Bridal Gown: The White Room (Carolina Herrera) Bride Model: Macie Thomas Cake: Cakes by Kim China & Crystal, Jewelry: Bromberg's
Draping: On-Site Productions Flower Girl Models: London Claire Heard & Isabella Todd Groom's Attire: Imperial Formal Wear Groom Model: Gabe Hilliard
Hair & Makeup: GLOW- Beauty on Demand Horse: Zahorna Polo Rider: Luciano Sinibaldi Props: PropHouse Birmingham Rentals: PRE Event Resources
Stationery: Fine Paperwork Venue & Polo Props & Gear: Windwood Weddings
Flower Girl Dresses: Pink Princess Linens: BBJ Linen Rental

This wedding was the event of the season, both traditional and sophisticated, yet modern and vibrant. The soiree felt like a leisurely summer afternoon in the Hamptons mixed with an exciting weekend race day at Keeneland. This setting of breezy, white tents on a massive, lush field of green was the perfect spot for the occasion. Like any good trip to the Hamptons or Kentucky derby, the champagne was flowing and could be found in our bride and groom's favorite hideaway spot before taking a ride on one of the stable's finest horses. Of course, there was still plenty of Veuve Clicquot to go around for the guests as well at its own special table, next to a divine oyster bar.

Gorgeous florals weaved their way through the billowy tents on gold box stands, around the drapery and even in the hands and hair of the sweet flower girls. A classic trellis of greenery served as the perfect backdrop for the bustling, white bar. Simple but elegant china and a white linen tablecloth allowed the flowers to be the focal point of the scene.

The groom looked debonaire in a navy blue suit, while the bride was a classic beauty in an ivory gown with a sweetheart neckline and a string of pearls. The wedding cake was just as classic and stunning, as it was all-white, with beautiful floral detailing and two realistic fondant roses on top. After an action-packed summer's day, a glass of champagne and slice of cake was just what guests needed.

