PUNTACANA RESORT & CLUB

For an avid golfer, no better golf experience than teeing off on the crystalline shores of the Dominican Republic in the Caribbean. With elegant resort accommodations and private villas, glorious landscapes and three championship golf courses, Punta Cana Resort and Club is the hallmark destination of choice in this golfers' paradise.

Punta Cana was founded in 1969, when thirty square miles, featuring six miles of untouched and unspoiled beaches, were available for a mere $200,000. Forty people purchased the island. Theodore Kheel bought out the other investors in 1970 and hired Frank Rainieri, a Dominican, to help turn Punta Cana into a resort. For seven years, there was no money for the young Dominican's salary, and the Wall Street Journal even ran a cover story poking fun at the undertaking. In 1997, two new partners came on board to turn the resort into a real undertaking: Oscar de la Renta and Julio Iglesias.

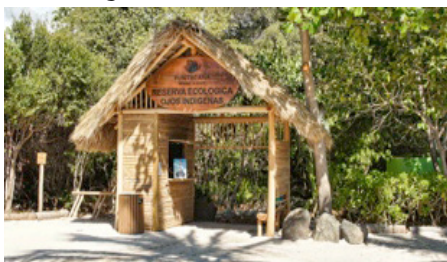

Oscar's sophisticated taste was commissioned into a small, elegant hotel, Tortuga Bay, which opened in 2005. "We wanted something that would be unbelievably comfortable, that people would come back to and would tell their friends about. We want to make Tortuga Bay the most exclusive place in the Caribbean," says Oscar de la Renta from Architectural Digest.

"It was too congested," de la Renta said, talking about Casa de Campo. A place he lived for 28 years before he decided to move to Punta Cana.

Tortuga Bay is a collection of 30 suites in 13 villas strung along two miles of beach. It is a stunning, AAA Five Diamond-awarded hotel. It is also a member of Leading Hotels of the World.

It features a gourmet restaurant, an Oscar de la Renta store, reception rooms, and a gym. Most of the hotel's facilities are within a 2-to 3-minute walk, but each villa is provided with a golf cart for traveling to and from other Punta Cana resort facilities.

Oscar de la Renta's design for Tortuga Bay reflects the area's uncluttered and unhurried landscape. Kheel and Rainieri were also determined to support the Dominican economy and to protect the environment. They have set aside 1,500 acres for a nature preserve called the Ecological Reserve, featuring 15 natural spring water lagoons.

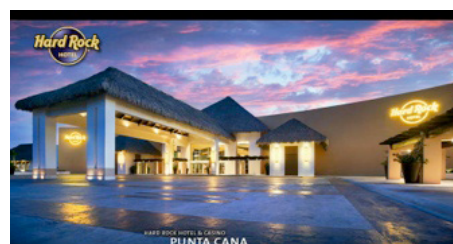

For non-golfers, Punta Cana offers the Six Senses Spa. It features expert therapists trained in Asian techniques, indoor and outdoor treatment areas, an outdoor pool, relaxation zones, steam showers, and a sauna. The package includes a 15% discount on all individual treatments from 9:00 am to 8:00 pm.

After golf, Punta Cana offers a variety of sports and recreational activities. This package includes a 10% discount on all water sports and activities at the Aquatic Center. The other activities include lighted tennis courts, horseback riding excursions, and SEGWAY Eco-Tours.

Outside the resort gates of the Punta Cana resort, a marina in Cap Cana offers fishing charters through Mike's Marina Fishing Charters. He is the longest-running outfitter in Punta Cana for offshore sport fishing, bottom fishing, and fly fishing.

The group will enjoy one night of entertainment at the popular Hard Rock Hotel and Casino. The Hard Rock has various bars and lounges as well as a nightclub. For the gambling type, there are 400 slots and games in all denominations, 40 table games, a poker room, blackjack, baccarat, craps, roulette, and a sports book. The casino is a 30-minute drive from the Punta Cana Resort property. Transportation is included in the package price.
