ABOUT ANGEL

With over two decades of experience as a cybersecurity executive, speaker, and strategist, Angel Johnson, MBA, CSM, BISO, brings a rare blend of technical depth, executive presence, and heart-led leadership.

She has led global security teams, built enterprise risk frameworks, and advised on innovation strategy for Fortune 100 organizations such as Walmart and Marriott. Her expertise spans cybersecurity governance, AI-driven threat detection, secure design architecture, and enterprise vulnerability remediation.

Angel is also a respected mentor, author, and advisor known for her work at the intersection of inclusive leadership, culture, and innovation. Whether on stage or in the boardroom, she shows up with clarity, boldness, and a commitment to helping others lead with vision and purpose. She is especially passionate about executive leadership, board-level reporting, and helping organizations build resilient, outcomes-focused security strategies that align with both business goals and human impact.
