Hey {manager},

There's a course called Change Your Mind…Create New Results that I'd love to enroll in. It's a live, online course with peers who are in similar roles to me, and it's run by Linda Lange, who is officially certified by Dr Joe Dispenza to deliver this program.

A few highlights:

- Direct access and coaching from Linda Lange, the expert instructor teaching the program
- Learning the step-by-step process on how to change based on the concepts of neuroscience
- Community Support for the length of the program teachings and 30 day integration period

I anticipate being able to put my learnings directly into practice during the course. After the course, I can share the learnings with the team so our entire team levels up.

The course costs €999 EUR. If you like, you can review course details here, including the instructor's bio: https://lindalange.com/changeyourmindcreatenewresults

What do you think?

Thanks,

{Your Name}

P.S. Here is a list of companies that have implemented this program previously or are currently in the process.

