Wildlife of Botswana Mobiles

On a mobile safari, every day feels like a new discovery. The landscapes shift from the channels of the Delta to the open plains of Savute and the elephant-rich Chobe Riverfront. With this variety of habitats comes extraordinary wildlife diversity.

- Elephants move in great numbers, especially in Chobe where some of Africa's largest herds gather.
- Big Cats – lions, leopards, and cheetahs – are often seen, with Savute famous for its dramatic lion–buffalo interactions.
- The wild dog, one of Africa's rarest predators, finds safe haven in northern Botswana and can be encountered on the move.
- Hippos and crocodiles thrive in the Delta's waterways, while red lechwe and sitatunga adapt beautifully to life in the wetlands.
- Birdlife: from vibrant carmine bee-eaters to the haunting call of the African fish eagle.

Wildlife of Hwange Bush Camp

Hwange National Park, Zimbabwe's largest reserve, is a land of endless horizons and huge skies. We are located in the remote wilderness, the focus is on raw, authentic safari.

- Elephants dominate the landscape; Hwange is home to over 40,000, often gathering at waterholes in unforgettable numbers.
- Lion prides patrol the open plains, while leopards slip through the teak forests and cheetahs sprint across the grasslands.
- Buffalo herds and giraffe towers move between the mopane woodland and open vleis.
- Birdlife is exceptional – with raptors circling overhead, kori bustards striding the plains, and summer migrants bringing splashes of color.
