Ikea - Ikea sofa's are the best. You don't feel like you are having to make huge commitment and you can wash and replace the slipcovers. As for other furniture, it's always fun to doctor Ikea furniture.

Serena & Lily - This one is a little on the pricier side, but still one of my favorites. A few times a year they have 20% off sales.

Target - Every once in while you can find something awesome at Target. My favorite ottoman I got there when did a designer flash sale.

Wayfair - My old neighbor started Wayfair - who knew what it would become? It's a great place to get reasonable furniture fast. Great for accent pieces.

Ballard Designs - Always a good staple for all things decor.

Pier 1 - Their Hayden lacquered pieces are worth a look

Joss and Main - This is definitely a good place to check when looking for nice looking pieces on a budget.

One Kings Lane - This is the higher end sister to Joss and Main. You will definitely spend more here, but you can find some really beautiful pieces.

Overstock - I think we all think of Overstock as a place for 2nd hand leftovers, but don't underestimate it's value.

Home Sense - Totally hit or miss, but you never know.

Brimfield - So this is a bit of a local one, but three times a year in Western Massachusetts is the best high end flea market you find!

Craig's List, Facebook Marketplace, Second hand stores - This is for my DIY ladies who love a good project.
