Our clients wanted a home where their kids could grow and where they could gather extended family. They love unique tile and modern finishes and open layout provides uninterrupted counter space. The materials are matte concrete-like quartz, pale white oak and periwinkle-painted island, all appeal all with black accents. Now our clients have a gorgeous kitchen that functions flawlessly, whether they are prepping school lunches or entertaining.

For their primary bath, our clients imagined a generous, private space with dynamic tile where they could get ready in the morning. The new layout provides a large shower and ample open space. The floating vanity has high visual impact with an occasionally recessed vanity. Black fixtures create contrast while the porcelain floor tile is earthy and grounding. And slate-blue ceramic tile with a modern relief pattern makes the shower an immersive art experience!

Our clients came to us expressing a love of bold, colorful and geometric tile. They have young children, and their home is the gathering place for extended family. They have design drama with multicolored "ambrosia" ceramic tile on the wall, a blackened brass light and a concrete sink on chrome legs. The goal was to create a space that was fun and functional for the grown-ups and kids, and we did just that!
