As a mom, I know how important it is to create a comfortable and welcoming environment when bringing your baby home for the first time. A clean house, fresh bedding, and all the comforts possible can make a huge difference in helping both baby and mom feel at ease during this special transition.

That's why I'm thrilled to announce our partnership with the talented Tammy Whelen of Its Baby Time Doula services! Together, we're working on creating the most beautiful custom packages to help moms, dads and their little ones feel truly cherished during this precious time.

All our packages will start as a base package, but here's the exciting part: we're also offering a registration-type service! This means that your loved ones, co-workers, and friends can add on to make these packages truly amazing. From personalized newborn care to creating a soothing and calming atmosphere at home, we're dedicated to making this milestone moment as special as possible for new parents and their babies.

Living in love events is built on the foundation of motherhood, and I believe there's nothing better I can offer than the comforts and experiences from my own journey.
