“A compelling masterpiece of contemporary nonfiction,” – Outlaw Radio

featured in A&E’s Secrets of the Hells Angels series, Gangland Undercover, and Netflix’s Deep Cover.

Building on the immense success of The Bike Rider and Sons of Anarchy, Running with the Devil offers a high-octane opportunity to dive into the gritty, dangerous world of outlaw biker gangs. Based on the international bestseller by Kerrie Droban, this film promises the same heart-pounding tension, psychological complexity, and visceral action that captivated millions of fans of both titles.

In a story of loyalty, betrayal, and redemption, undercover operative, Jay Dobyms, infiltrates the notorious Hells Angels Motorcycle Club, risking everything to dismantle the criminal empire from the inside. But as he goes deeper into the abyss of drugs, violence, and raw power, he’s forced to confront his own humanity—and the lines between hero and villain blur beyond recognition.

With the potential to attract top-tier talent, Running with the Devil will produce a thrilling cinematic experience within a budget of $10-15M, positioning it for critical acclaim and substantial ROI. This project offers a rare opportunity to combine a gripping narrative, proven audience appeal, and a tight, action-driven production model designed to maximize investor returns.

-Investment Opportunity: Prodigal Father, Pagan Son – The Motion Picture-

From the acclaimed, award-winning international bestseller Prodigal Father, Pagan Son, by Kerrie Droban, comes a heart-pounding tale of betrayal, survival, and redemption. This film presents a rare chance to explore the psychological depths of growing up in an organized crime family, offering the suspense and emotional gravity reminiscent of Catch Me If You Can and Donnie Brasco.

The story follows the harrowing life of a son raised in the shadow of a notorious crime family, only to be recruited for the ultimate betrayal—murdering his own father. As the lines between loyalty and vengeance blur, the protagonist must navigate a world of danger and deceit, making impossible choices that force him to confront his own loyalty.

With a production budget in the $10-15M range, Prodigal Father, Pagan Son is poised to attract A-list talent and create a gripping, character-driven drama that combines both the raw emotional punch and box office appeal of similar crime epics. This project represents a powerful opportunity for investors to back a critically acclaimed adaptation with a built-in fanbase, delivering strong ROI while offering a thrilling, high-stakes journey into the underworld.

-Investment Opportunity: The Last Chicago Boss – The Motion Picture-

Riding the wave of success from iconic crime dramas like The Godfather, The Offer, and recent releases such as The Bikeriders, The Last Chicago Boss promises to captivate audiences with its gritty, real-life tale of power, manipulation, and violence within the world of outlaw biker gangs. Based on the life of Peter James, the Godfather of the Outlaws Motorcycle Gang, this film delves deep into his rise to dominance in Chicago’s criminal underworld.

Tracking his meteoric climb through manipulation, brutality, and cunning, James outmaneuvers both his own gang and rival factions to become Chicago's ultimate crime boss. The Last Chicago Boss presents a chilling look into the mind of a man who reshaped the power structure of an entire city through fear and betrayal, akin to the timeless mob dramas that have captivated audiences for decades.

With a $10-15M budget, this project offers an opportunity to create a gripping cinematic experience that appeals to fans of crime epics, all while delivering strong potential for critical and commercial success. Investors will have the chance to back a film primed for mass appeal, following in the footsteps of recent crime dramas that have drawn in wide audiences and delivered substantial returns.

-Investment Opportunity: The Language of Butchers – Limited Series or Feature Presentation-

With the global success of espionage dramas like The Americans and the timeless appeal of The Spy Who Came in from the Cold, The Language of Butchers presents a riveting new addition to this genre, combining the emotional intensity of a personal memoir with the tension and intrigue of covert operations. Based on Kerrie Droban's haunting true life story, this project delivers the gripping experience of navigating a childhood steeped in secrets, loving duplicity, betrayal, and the shadowy world of espionage.

Blending the raw emotional honesty of The Glass Castle with the high-stakes tension of The Americans, this adaptation will resonate with audiences who crave stories rich in human complexity.

This project, with a budget range of $10-15M, offers investors the chance to tap into the success of recent espionage-driven dramas, ensuring a critically powerful and commercially viable production.
