EMMA'S Mission

As a Mexican- American, Emma's mission as an artist, entrepreneur and human is to share love, peace and laughter with the world through telling stories of traditionally underrepresented characters on screen and stage, and through health and confidence coaching inside her company, EMpower Training. She believes life is truly an adventure. Through understanding ourselves and others more deeply, we each can live a life full of purpose to better our communities and make our biggest dreams a reality.

ACTING

Bringing more representation to the screen and stage, Emma gives energy and depth to every role. She loves to share stories to connect others through the human experience. She continues her training with the Warner Loughlin Technique out of LA.

CREATION

In 2020 during online acting class with the Green Room Studio in Chicago, Emma and Lani met and bonded over wanting to create their own stories. As first time film makers, they used Emma's iPhone to film, direct, and star in a six episode web series that they also made into a short film. L&E the movie has since been accepted to 4 different film festivals around the country .
