Time of Year

Bright, soft, airy, and pastel-like colors blend perfectly with the blossoming flowers of spring and into summer. Deeper and more dramatic reds, navies, and purples tend to thrive during the late fall and winter months.

Skin Tones

Even though you will be in your wedding dress, consider the general skin tones of your bridesmaids. You don't want to wash out your girls! They are there supporting and loving on you, you want them to look good too!

Rule of thumb, hardly anyone looks good in yellow or orange. Unless you have a deep, sultry tan, I'd steer clear from those.

Your Style

Trying to make a statement with your wedding? Consider bolder, brighter colors. Try mixing colors opposite the color wheel in your flower arrangements and decor.

Trendy and “with the times”? Go for neutrals. Tans, Pinks, softer hues of blue. These subdued colors accentuate the bride in photos and highlight all of your pretty faces! Consider staggering the hues of each color for a waterfall effect with your bridesmaid dresses.

Classic looks- pinks, plums, and peach. Navy will always be a classic. Throw black bridesmaid dresses into the mix for a black tie affair look!

Venue Lighting

Make sure to check for any funky artificial lighting effects at your ceremony and reception venues.

Lots of windows letting in natural lighting will display colors most naturally!
