PROFILE

Enock is the youngest of six children whose father passed away several years. Enock's older siblings have all dropped out of school without completing their education.

Enock's mother has for long been praying and hoping that at least her last born, would overcome the hurdle of school drop-out like his siblings. His mother, herself, hardly remembers going to school. She is working to support her family through growing crops on her small parcel of land. She sells any surplus after meeting the family's needs to provide for them, which means their income is not very much.

Help support Enock in school by bringing joy and meaning to his life as a beacon to his family that he hopes to be.
