Blisters

I remember so clearly the feeling, the pain from the blisters on my hands by my thumbs. Recently, while I was working one day, I recalled a season in my life where lack was a continual part of our every day; literally, lack, I cannot even emphasize this word enough. Lack in material but not in Christ. We ate peanut butter on bread and I washed clothes in a bathtub. "Mommy, that looks fun, can I stir the clothes with the broom handle". My daughter, so young and innocent, unaware of our circumstances. She
