

TAWANA M. BHAGWAT

EXECUTIVE COACH | GLOBAL HUMAN RESOURCE EXECUTIVE | ACCOMPLISHED CHANGE AGENT | STRATEGIC PLANNER

An organizational leader with a bold, unapologetic approach and the desire to drive others toward success creates change. It's a simple truth—one that Tawana Bhagwat, a career development, labor relations, talent acquisition and management leader embraces every day. As managing partner of Evók Life by Design, a well-being company specializing in the design of transformational programs and products for leaders, executives and entrepreneurs, Tawana is masterful at helping individuals declutter their past, grasp opportunities and gain proper perspective of their potential for greatness. This married mother of four believes that encouraging more trust, more connection, more accountability and more focus are the cornerstones of growth and positive change in any organization. Tawana is equal parts executive coach, change agent, strategic planner and entrepreneur. Her vision knows no limits and her approach to organizational leadership and personal transformation are rooted firmly in the belief that in order to be their best, an individual must be honest with themselves and bring clear intentions to all that they do.

Before stepping into full-time entrepreneurship, Tawana worked for Procter & Gamble as a global human resource leader for many million dollar brands. She served as the coach for C-Suite executives advising on a variety of managerial decisions including diversity and inclusion, organizational design, culture, employee relations, executive compensation, and strategic planning.

Her entrepreneurial spirit, civic leadership and commitment to humanity through empowering the lives of young women across the country is a testament to her love and dedication to making this world a better place—and she does so unapologetically.

IMPACT

Tawana Bhagwat is masterful at helping women declutter their past, grasp opportunities and gain proper perspective of their potential for greatness. Her philosophy is: 'No broken women on my watch.' You feel every bit of this philosophy when Tawana, an accomplished change agent and strategic planner, steps into a room. When she looks you in the eye and calls you on the lies you tell yourself, you feel compelled to avert your gaze because looking your own truth in the face is often difficult. But she helps you work through the difficulties to find your way to an elevated way of thinking and being. The light comes on and you want to hug her as though she were that long lost friend who's been holding onto your secrets since childhood. — ESSENCE

ABOUT EVÓK

Evók is a well-being company. Emphasis on BEING. Being Well. Being Whole. Being YOU. We're here to lead the conversation on well-being and shift it from life hacks and wellness activities to self-actualization and the power of personal freedom and fulfillment. Our mission is to free up women to transform the world. Our message... Being is the New Doing. You're doing too much. We design transformational products for people who are losing a vital part of their life to dissatisfaction and burnout and want to live with purpose, increase their intention, and experience what it's like to own your time and energy.
