We can't wait to work with you!

YOU'RE BUSY AND THIS WORLD IS DEMANDING.

You deeply desire a home that provides respite for your soul. But hiring a designer to help build your dreams can feel daunting and overwhelming. Who do you trust? What if they push styles on me that I don't like? What if there are hidden fees? What if they scam me or don't listen to me? The fears can go on, and we get it, we're just like you, working individuals who have busy family and social lives.

That's why we've curated this list of questions you should ask designers before you hire them.

We want the best for you, you deserve that.

HOUSEMILL DESIGN

was a pleasure to work with
and made an overwhelming process very easy to navigate.
They understood our vision from day one and made our house a joy to live in.

QUESTIONS TO ASK:

1. What do you need from me? (In regards to how much input and design inspo I should provide a designer)
2. Is my budget reasonable? (A respectable designer should be able to speak honestly about your budget and ensure that it makes sense for you and them.)
3. How long do selections take?
4. What should I expect during the process? WWW.HOUSEMILLDISIGN.COM
5. How do you handle additions/changes?
6. How much should I expect to spend on _____ (fixtures, furniture, plumbing, lighting)
7. Do I have to pay for everything right away?
8. Can I order things myself after you pick them out?
9. Is everything delivered to my house at one time?
10. Do I get that HGTV reveal moment?!?
11. What questions do you have for me?
